Q1 Read the following passage and answer the questions given below.10

Of man's earliest inventions we know very little. The First may have been the use of the stone to crack to nut. The next was possibly the use of a stick to strike an enemy. Once man found that sticks and stones were useful, it was only a step further to the making of a crude weapon by fastening a stone to the end of a stick.

Man used sticks and stones long before he dared to middle with fire, for the early men like all wild creatures dicaded the fire. Fire, of course existed for lightning must sometimes have set the forests a blaze just as it does today and in those days' volcanoes were much more active than they are now. The forgotten hero who first dared to fame fire to his own use was the greatest of early inventors, for once man had fire he was master of all lower creatures.

Questions: -

An intellectual is one who is entitled and being an Enlightened person, he has to give light to others who are in need of it. In every society we find intellectuals such as philosophers, scholars, writers and critics and they, as Enlightened men, have a great responsibility towards society, in a society, all cannot be intellectual. If a time comes when all are intellectuals, it would be a blessed time indeed, but at present, at any rate, all are not intellectual, and those who are intellectuals has the great responsibility of guiding other on the right path. If today we have our civilization and culture, if we have order and security in life and if our life is better than that of our primitive ancestors, it is because intellectual from time to time, have been guiding humanity on the path of felicity and amity. The intellectual should come out of his Ivory tower. This is the themes of Jennyson’s famous poem, “The Palace of Art”.
